

1. About This Certification

The certification validates that an individual can design, build and deliver production-grade AI solutions. It is intended for practitioners working in an architect role who select models and integrate them into enterprise systems.

This guide is the authoritative reference for candidates preparing to sit the exam. Read it in full before scheduling your exam.

2. Purpose of the Credential

The credential provides an independent assessment of the skills required to architect solutions in production environments.